

STYLE PERMITS FREEDOM OF CHOICE THIS SPRING

(By Fashionable Nancy)

The lines, colors and fabrics allow such latitude in selection that any woman can embark joyously on the pleasant duty of choosing spring clothes, assured that she can find something that is becoming as well as smart. The lines are still straight, for the slender silhouette is even more pronounced than in the winter, which will mean a little more dieting for the woman who has a tendency to disregard fashion's decrees by putting on weight.

FROCKS are a dream of loveliness, and are, fortunately, dreams that may come true, for they are more moderately priced than last year. They reflect the bright, joyous coloring of spring—Rust, Flamingo, Pewter, Wren, Dinty green and Harding blue (which is so lovely that the first lady of the land selected it), as does the Millinery, which is riot of coloring and many-hued flowers.

Suits appear with loose box coats and jackets, charmingly youthful in line and design, or in strictly tailored models, trimmed in black silk braid. Piquette, Tricotine, Twill cord, Homespun and Covert cloth are the favored fabrics for suits, while such soft materials as Marvella, Veldyne, Velour, Orianda prevail in wraps. And, speaking of wraps—one may have a cape of exquisite grace and fabric, a semi-dolman with wide sleeves and wider collar, or a smart Polo coat that is excellent for street or motor wear.

In frocks, the crepe family reigns supreme, and Canton crepes, Crepe de Chine and Crepe Meteor commend themselves for summer wear by their coolness and durability. Pussy willow Golex de Sole, a new version of tricotee which will not ravel, are also excellently adapted to the new fashions. Noticeable are the new long-waisted chemise frocks, the basque waists, loose-hanging panels, odd cuffs, and dyed lace—for lace, after a period of banishment has come into its own again.

Altogether, it is a season of rich simplicity—a conservatism that is evidenced especially in the suits and wraps. For instance—

The charming young person sketched here wears a suit of Piquette, whose straight lines and plain contour is simplicity itself, but who makes up for this seeming austere by rows of tomato-colored embroidery, tomato-colored fringe, and an under-blouse of the same rich shade. This little three-piece suit—for three-piece it is—is typical of the more elaborate tailleur. The blouse, which is a part of the suit proper, is of navy crepe satin, with a round neck and short, close-fitting sleeves. It is thin enough and cool enough to supplant the separate blouse in popularity.

Altogether, it is a season as joyous as every spring should be, augmented by a superb offering of new fashions and the long-awaited lower prices.

Easter Suits

That Harmonize With the Idealized Beauty of Blossoming Spring

And Suits to do that MUST be wonderfully charming—for spring is the season of beauty—the birds, the flowers, the orchards, the meadows smile on the approving world in their brightest plumage.

Our suits, this springtime, characterize their newness and desirableness in their elaborate ways and means of trimming—embroidery taking first place, and beads following closely—either scintillating or subdued; or braids, yards and yards of it, winding intricately about.

Rich Navies—Spring's Delightful Preference

are in abundance. You know their graceful charmingness.

In styles—if your choice is a blouse back coat with adorable satin sash that drapes demurely about—

—or a box coat effect—intricately embroidered or braided—youthful and smart—

—or a tailored suit, simple and elegant of line—

—or any one of the delightful styles in favor—you'll be able to find it in our immense assortment in sizes 16 to 51½.

Priced at $24.75 to $59.95

Fashion Takes an Elaborate Way to Trim These Delightful

Georgette Blouses $5

She uses all the smart new ways she could think of to make them different from last season's blouses. She wanted them to have a style distinctly their own—one dainty and springlike—so she

Puts on collars, or at least the effect of a collar—

Tucks them elaborately into a mass of sheer daintiness—

Knots a tiny bit of French ribbon at the throat—

And takes Pt. Venise lace in abundance and uses it to further add to their distinguishedness.

AND TO TOP OFF ALL THIS BEAUTY SHE USED THE GLO-RIOUS NEW COLORINGS—Honeydew, porcelain, tomato, zinc, flesh, white and bisque. And all you pay is $5!

Our Fairyland of Spring Hats at $5

—AND THE BEAUTY OF IT ALL IS—THERE'S BUT ONE OF A KIND, in most instances.

No words amply describe their loveliness, the profusion and variedness of styles, colors and materials, or the individual charming manner they assume! Come, see for yourself!

If you want the most elaborated of hats—the most prim, jaunty sailor, it's here—

Or if Mother wants a hat, it's here, too—for our matron's hats are our special pride, $5.

200 New Hats at $3.50

Hats that sparkle with newness, originality and desirability! Your choice of 200, at $3.50.

WE'LL TRIM ANY HAT FREE—if you'll buy the trimming in our Millinery Department.

Our line of Children's Spring Hats is wonderfully complete.
